WORKING ENVIRONMENT AND PHYSICAL DEMANDS

The work environment consists of a busy warehouse where safety is a top priority. Employees must have the ability to work well under deadlines that may require overtime and weekend work on a periodic basis.

The physical demands described here are representative of those that must be met by an employee to successfully perform the essential functions of this job.

While performing the duties of this job, the employee is regularly required to stand and walk; use hands to type, finger, handle, and feel; talk and hear. The employee is frequently required to reach with hands and arms above and below shoulder level. The employee is occasionally required to sit, crouch, and bend down at the waist. The employee must regularly lift and/or move up to 100 pounds. Specific vision abilities required by this job include close vision, distance vision, color vision, peripheral vision, depth perception and ability to adjust focus.

The physicality of the Order Puller role is to build pallets using cases, sacks and bags of food. This is repetitive movement for an eight plus hour day of lifting, bending, crouching, twisting, and stepping on and off a forklift. The forklift is a stand-up, not sit-down forklift. Other equipment used is a walkie-ryder, which requires regular twisting movement, pallet jacks, both manual and electric, which requires walking and twisting at the knee, and a sit-down forklift, which can be bumpy involving sudden jolts and jerks. The product being lifted can be awkward in shape and size, like 50 pound sacks of product or uniform, like packaged canned foods. The amount of pallets built varies each day, but is between 15-30 pallets and can be up to 6 ft high, which requires reaching above the shoulder. Other responsibilities include, sweeping, mopping, using a sit-down floor scrubber, and dumping full barrels weighing up to 350 lbs of food into totes. The role can take place in a cooler, freezer and dry storage space.

During a disaster, you and your family's safety is the first priority. As an essential service provider and, at times, a first responder, you are requested report to work as needed, or, at a minimum, to communicate your inability to report to work to your supervisor. Depending upon the nature of the emergency, regular staffing responsibilities may change.

- ☐ Ability to lift 100 pounds.
- ☐ Standing for 3 – 4 hours at a time.

- ☐ The data entry function requires that a staff member sit or stand at a computer for several hours at a time entering or manipulating data.
- ☐ Ability to work in varying weather conditions (rain, cold, heat, etc.).
- ☐ While performing the duties of this job, the employee is regularly required to stand and walk; use hands to finger, handle, feel, grasp, and type.
- ☐ Frequently required to reach with hands and arms above and below shoulder level.
- ☐ Occasionally required to sit, crouch, and bend down at the waist.
- ☐ Specific vision abilities required by this job include close vision, distance vision, color vision, peripheral vision, depth perception, and the ability to adjust focus.
- ☐ Occasional travel by vehicle and/or airplane may be required.
- ☐ The noise level in the work environment is usually moderate and may occasionally require the use of hearing protection equipment.

During a disaster, you and the safety of your family is the first priority. As an essential service provider and, at times, a first responder, you are asked to report to work as requested, or, at a minimum, to communicate your inability to report to work to your manager. Depending upon the nature of the emergency, regular staffing responsibilities may change.
